Adamas port

Milos port, Adamas, was founded in 1835 and is considered to be one of the largest and safest natural harbors in the Mediterranean. The position of Milos island in Cyclades allows ferry connection to other popular tourist destinations, whereas the whole physiography of the bay facilitates engineering construction (floating breakwater - piers).

In recent years the island is rapidly developing the cruise industry, as Milos is a stopover in Cyclades. At the same time the number of yachts berthed is increasing, especially during the summer months. Under these favorable conditions from early 2012 began the construction of a floating breakwater at the east side of the harbor. The purpose of this structure is twofold: first to close the basin, creating an appropriate haven for tourist yachts, which will protect them from the strong winds during the whole year; and secondly to be used as a pier in order to meet the increasing demands especially during the summer months.

Furthermore, the choice of this floating construction allows the renewal of water and thus prevent pollution in the basin. 60 new berths were added after the construction and at the present moment the forecasts for the development of yachting tourism are extremely favorable. Last but not least, passenger jetty on the island has all the requirements necessary for the docking of small and large vessels.

Unique, natural and safe in Cyclades!

Natural beauty, colorful escape!

Pollonia, a charming fishing village and a stopover for sailing yachts.

Kleftiko, the most famous and must see spot of Milos.

Ancient theater, its construction dates back to the Hellenistic era.

Phylakopi, the most significant Aegean city of Prehistoric times.

Catacombs, the most ancient monument of Christianity.

Sarakiniko, stunning white beach, reminiscent of a lunar landscape.

Firopotamos, another traditional fishing village.

Milos is the fifth largest island in Cyclades (24 islands in Cyclades total) located on the southwestern edge. It lies 86 miles (138.40 km) from Piraeus and locates in the middle of the route Piraeus- Crete. Is regarded to be the island of Venus, which symbolizes natural beauty, the island of lovers as many couples prefer this destination for their vacation and the island of colors due to its unique, picturesque places. Milos island can satisfy even the most suspicious tourist, who usually makes second thoughts about his next vacation destination. Is an ideal destination for your holidays as it has everything!

It combines natural beauty, impressive landscapes, beautiful beaches in the Aegean, unique geological phenomena, sightseeing and cultural heritage. Milos from antiquity is known for its mineral wealth, which is responsible for the colorful and great variation in the entire coastline of the island. In addition, you will have the opportunity to visit some very important archaeological sites, museums and traditional villages. Milos is also provided for alternative tourism. Due to volcanic activities and thanks to post-volcanic hydrothermal activity, the island has many hot springs and natural spas, known since ancient times for their healing properties. On vacation in Milos you will not miss nightlife and culinary delights, as well as local cuisine and local products of the island.
